

PIMCO Unconstrained Bond Fund

An absolute return-oriented bond fund that invests without benchmark constraints

The Fund invests broadly across the global fixed-income markets. It can function as a core bond holding as well as a complement to traditional bond holdings. The Fund's flexibility allows it to maintain an unusually wide duration range, which can help position it for varying interest rate environments, including a rising interest rate environment.

Why invest in this fund?

Greater ability to pursue bond opportunities and manage risk

PIMCO Unconstrained Bond Fund is not tethered to benchmark-specific guidelines. This allows the manager to more fully invest according to PIMCO's active views on the market and pursue the broadest possible fixed income opportunity set. The Fund employs PIMCO's global integrated investment process to help reduce exposures that may pose heightened downside risk.

Can function as a core bond holding within a diversified portfolio

The Fund seeks to provide many of the benefits associated with a core bond fund—capital preservation potential, liquidity and diversification. However, unlike traditional core bond funds, the Fund is not tied to a benchmark and has only moderate sector or instrument limitations. This could potentially either enhance, or detract, from performance relative to the broader bond market.

PIMCO is widely recognized as one of the world's premier bond managers.

As measured by assets under management, PIMCO is one of the largest investment advisors in the country, with a client list that includes many of the largest companies in the United States. The Fund will be governed by PIMCO's disciplined investment process and its longterm economic outlook.

The benefits of a diversified bond portfolio

Various sectors of the bond market react differently to the economy and interest rates. The chart at right makes a strong case for holding a diversified bond portfolio.

Index definitions: Unhedged Foreign is represented by the JPMorgan Non-U.S. Global Government Bond (Unhedged) Index, an index representative of the total return performance in U.S. dollars on an unhedged basis of major non-U.S. bond markets. Emerging Markets represented by the JPMorgan Emerging Markets Bond Index Global, which tracks total return for U.S.-dollar-denominated debt instruments issued by selected emerging market countries. Investment Grade Corporate Bonds represented by the Barclays Capital Credit Index, which tracks publicly issued, fixed-rate, non-convertible investment grade corporate debt. Mortgages represented by the Barclays Capital Mortgage Backed Securities Index, which is composed of mortgage-backed pass-through securities of Ginnie Mae (GNMA), Fannie Mae (FNMA), and Freddie Mac (FHLMC). Intermediate Treasuries represented by the Barclays Capital Intermediate Treasury Index, which is composed of Treasury bonds with maturities between 1 and 9.9 years. The 3-Month LIBOR (London Intra-bank Offered Rate) Index is an average interest rate, determined by the British Bankers Association, that banks charge one another for the use of short-term money (3 months) in England's Eurodollar market. Unless otherwise noted, index returns reflect the reinvestment of income dividends and capital gains, if any, but do not reflect fees, brokerage commissions or other expenses of investing. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

Duration is a measure of a portfolio's price sensitivity expressed in years. When interest rates rise, bond prices generally fall; bonds of longer duration tend to be more sensitive to changes in interest rates, usually making them more volatile than fixed-income securities of shorter duration.
